Your browser cannot play this video. Hi there! We were looking for these too! They can be found here; FREE homeschool resources and printables for parents - SparkleBoxI also bought the book and cd from Amazon... and a few workbooks... you can also buy a cdrom that you can print the worksheets from... all in all they cost £20 or so so a good investment!! I wasn't taught phonics and my husband has an accent so hard to define between b and p etc... a good investment!! Sparklebox is great for phonics and alot of schools use this website Sparklebox full of useful resources but is run by a convicted paedophile. Schools I know of don't use it anymore. BBC News - Paedophile ran teaching website If you're concerned that your child needs more support with phonics I'd go and speak to the teacher first because they may have specific things they would recommend. Mr Thorne does phonics website looks good, also try Letters and Sounds and Jolly Phonics Websites. You can get some good printables from Coloring Pages, Kids Crafts and Printable Activities For Kids. I got our son the Jolly Phonics workbooks which I do with him as he is learning each sound at his school, really great books and the CD is great for listening and learning the sounds. Regards Dawn Wow many many Thanks everyone for your replies! My DS2 is 3 but he's so ready and eager to learn, I went through them with my older son a few years ago so just wanted a reminder of the actions. Many Thanks again Kids get enough of this pointless rubbish at school, what did anyone ever learn from colouring-in apart from how to colour-in? Do some meaningful activities with your kids. Our childrens school recommend the Letters and Sounds - Sparklebox def out of favour these days. I have downloaded, printed, laminated and cut up the words from the Letters and Sound sites, and keep them in my TA kit - so I have my own set to hand. Regards Dawn Thanks Dawn found a load of stuff on here to print off to help with my 8yr olds easter homework on the daimond jubilee as they are having a visit from Hampshire's Lord Lieutenant How about- Putting lots of things beginning with a letter in a bowl for example "a" and singing silly soup! "I'm going to make some silly soup! I'm going to make it silly put it in the fridge and make it nice and chilly!" Then put in things beginning with "a" like ant, apple, axe, and have other things around that don't start with a and then mix it with a spoon and pretend to eat it. You can also write the letters in sand, make them with stones, its more fun to act out the letter which is why jolly phonics is based on rhymes and actions and when its fun its remembered. Coloring is a wonderful way for children to learn fine motor skills. Fine motor skills are the skills that help the children learn how to write, grasp objects, and fasten things such as buttons on clothing. Having weak fine motor skills affect a child's ability to eat, write legibly, and perform certain tasks such as dressing. Studies have found that coloring helps many children to overcome inner pain they may be experiencing from the death of a loved one, such as a family member or a pet. Many people do not think children will remember the death of loved ones, but it has been shown that they do indeed remember the loss of their loved ones and it can impact them later in life if it is not dealt with. Giving your child a piece of paper and coloring tools will help them express their inner feelings, even if they don't want to talk about them. It is important to spend time coloring and drawing with your child as it teaches fine motor coordination. Markers, crayons, colored pencils, pens, and chalk can all be used as you teach your child how to draw. Allow an area on your driveway or patio where your child can use sidewalk chalk and draw different scenes. During your child's bath time, you can have your child draw with crayon soap. There are also other drawing games you can purchase for your child to use in the bathtub. Developing fine motor skills is an important phase during early childhood development. Fine motor skills also goes along with hand-eye coordination so coloring and other activities focus on developing them. Was going to mention sparkle box (not using it) but have been beaten to it! Neither the school my DC go to or the one I work in use it any more.
